

Jackson Hole News & Guide

Happy Halloween: A weekend of boo-tiful bashes awaits

With last week's Halloween Eve celebrations in the bag, All Hallow's Eve is here with a weekend of haunted bashes.

Billy Arnold Oct 30, 2019 Updated Oct 30, 2019 0

An iced alternative

For those looking for a sweet alternative to candy (who, really, can eat another Milk Dud after all these years?) Jackson ice creamery Cream and Sugar is making pumpkin-flavored ice cream sandwiches until Thanksgiving.

Led by Gavin Fine and Chad Horton, Cream and Sugar will be selling its seasonal sandwiches at Bodega and Bin22, where they have been in the past, as well as six new locations: Aspens Market, Pearl Street Market, Jackson Whole Grocer, Roadhouse Pub Shop, Basecamp and Jackson Hole Twin Cinema.

The ice creamery's year-round flavors are sold at Lucky's Market and Albertsons.

For more sweet tooth satisfying information, check out CreamAndSugarIceCream.com.